Leave & Time-Off Policy

Annual, casual, sick and special leave entitlements: how they accrue, how to a carry-forward and encashment rules, and approvals.

REF	KB-E-05
VERSION	V4.2
EFFECTIVE	01 APR 2026
FOR	ALL EMPLOYEES
CLASSIFICATION	INTERNAL / ALL EMPLOYEES

This policy sets the leave entitlements for full-time employees of Emids Technologies in India; terms for US employees are governed by their local benefits guides. Apply for leave in the HR system before it starts — retrospective applications need your manager's approval and HR sign-off.

1. Entitlements at a glance

Leave type	Annual entitlement	Key rules
Annual / Earned Leave (EL)	18 days	Accrues 1.5 days per month; apply at least 10 days ahead
Casual Leave (CL)	6 days	Max 3 days at a stretch; cannot be combined with EL
Sick Leave (SL)	8 days	2+ consecutive days require a medical certificate
Maternity Leave	26 weeks	As per the Maternity Benefit Act 2013 (first two children; statutory thereafter)
Paternity Leave	2 weeks	Within 4 weeks of birth; apply via HR ticket
Bereavement Leave	3 days	Immediate family; actual leave for travel considered case by case
Marriage Leave	5 days	Once during employment; own marriage, with notice
Compensatory Off	1 day per day worked	For recognised weekend or holiday work with pre-approval; to be availed within 90 days

2. How leave accrues and balances are maintained

Leave accrues monthly from your date of joining and is visible in your HR profile. Employees on probation accrue leave, but EL/CL can be availed during probation only with manager approval. Unused EL is carried forward up to 30 days into the next January; anything beyond that is encashed or lapsed per company rules announced each year.

3. Applying and approving

- Apply in the leave system; for planned leave, raise the request at least 7 calendar days ahead.
- Sick leave may be applied after the fact; attach a medical certificate for 2+ consecutive days.
- Your manager replies within 3 working days. For 10+ continuous days or leave during notice period, HR approval is added.
- Project criticality is respected — managers may rearrange preferred dates within reason; the reason will be given.

4. Long breaks and sabbatical

Unpaid leave of up to 90 days, or a paid sabbatical after five years of continuous service, is possible for higher study, family care or personal reasons. Speak with your manager first, then raise an HR ticket; each case is signed off by HR and your business unit head.

5. Absence without leave

Absence without an approved application or without notice is treated as unauthorized absence and is marked until regularised. 5 consecutive days of absence without response results in abandonment proceedings under the exit policy.

6. Leaving the company

On separation, accrued unused EL is encashed at the per-day rate in your final settlement, subject to policy caps. Negative balances at exit are recovered from final dues.

> Holidays are covered separately in the Public Holidays Calendar (KB-E-06) — public holidays do not deduct from leave balances.
