Code of Conduct & Workplace Ethic

The standards of behaviour we hold ourselves to at work, at client sites and on respect, confidentiality and conflict-of-interest rules.

REF	KB-E-02
VERSION	V2.1
EFFECTIVE	01 OCT 2025
FOR	ALL EMPLOYEES
CLASSIFICATION	INTERNAL / ALL EMPLOYEES

This code applies to every Emids employee, permanent or contractual, at our offices, client sites, off-sites and in any virtual space where you represent Emids. It sits on top of — never instead of — the law and your employment agreement.

1. Integrity in our work

- Represent your skills, credentials and the effort involved in your work accurately.
- Never falsify, backdate or selectively edit records: timesheets, expense claims, test results, timesheet approvals, client reports.
- Do not accept or give other people's credit for work; acknowledge contributions honestly.

2. Conflicts of interest

Avoid any situation where your personal interest could interfere — or appear to interfere — with Emids' interest. Outside employment, board positions, equity in competitors and hiring or supervising a close relative all need prior written disclosure to HR. Once disclosed we will work out safeguards together; hiding a conflict is the breach, not the situation itself.

3. Gifts and entertainment

Goodwill gestures up to a nominal value (about ■1,000 / USD 25 per occasion) are acceptable. Anything beyond that, cash or cash equivalents, or gifts connected to a live deal or evaluation must be declined or disclosed to HR within three working days. The same limits apply to what we offer clients and partners.

4. Respect and safety

We treat colleagues, clients, vendors and visitors with courtesy regardless of seniority. Harassment, bullying, discriminatory remarks and intimidation violate this code and are handled under the Prevention of Sexual Harassment (POSH) — Employee Handbook (KB-E-18) and the grievance policy. Violence or threats of violence lead straight to disciplinary action.

5. Information and duty of care

- Treat client, patient and company information as confidential; share it only with people who need it for their work.
- Follow the IT Assets & Acceptable Use Policy (KB-E-17) for systems, devices and data handling.
- Do not speak for the company to media, investors or analysts unless you are authorised to do so.

6. Workplace presence

Dress for your day: client-facing days require business or business-casual attire, delivery floors accept smart casual, and client dress codes override ours when you are on their site. Office spaces, behaviours on video calls and messaging channels should stay professional.

7. What happens when this code is breached

Suspected breaches can be raised with your manager, HR, or through the Speak-Up & Whistleblower Policy (KB-E-04) where you prefer confidentiality. Cases are handled under the Disciplinary & Corrective Action Procedure; retaliation against anyone reporting in good faith is itself a severe violation.

> When in doubt, ask: a plain question to your manager or HR officer is always cheaper than a misconduct finding later.
